

7

Immediately comes the piker (picador) mounted on a poor old horse who slaved all his life, and now this! Blindfolded and with an apron-like garment (peto) to protect him from the tormented bull's charges (though it doesn't help). The picador deeply perforates the bull's neck causing profuse hemorrhage, and the horrendous pain prevents him from turning or lifting his head... If the white or multicolored ribboned iron pikes are not enough for the blood-thirsty public and torero, then they'll punish him by using black ribboned pikes which are TWICE AS THICK AND DEEP!!!

The poor bull is now increasingly lowering his head forced by the intense pain, and grossly humiliated by that human who'll easily plunge his final sword since, if the bull could keep his head up he would not be able to knife him. Before this however, the bull is manipulated with a red rag to force him to move violently so the harpoons will plunge deeper into his flesh and produce a near fatal bloodshed.

The "rejoneo" is another type of bullfighting also called "horseback bullfighting" and is even MORE cruel yet!!!

Some regulations state that the sword should be plunged directly into his heart... but this is almost always deliberately ignored, or done by incompetents. The sword instead goes through his lungs causing him to die a long and desperate death by drowning in his own blood and vomiting it profusely! He then falls on his knees, his eyes in tears realizing he can't outwit this tremendous and incomprehensible perversity. The torero gets tired of the bull not dying yet, so he PLUNGES A KNIFE IN HIS NECK OVER AND OVER AND OVER AND OVER AGAIN!!!

The End of His Misery???

Oh no! The "Spanish Culture" tells the ignorant masses to proudly exhibit the bullfight trophies cut off BEFORE the bull dies, so the torero cuts off the bull's ear or leg or tail (or testicles which will "make him more virile") or all of them.