

Animal-rights group plans bazaar, photo show in Kobe

A Kobe-based antivivisection association will hold a bazaar and photo exhibition Sunday at Higashiyuenchi Park in Chuo Ward, Kobe.

About 1,000 daily necessities and clothing items will be on sale and 30 photos depicting animal experiments will be shown. Proceeds will help cover the activities of the Association to Think About Vivisection.

For more information, call the association at (078) 982-2011.
